8. Action Item

A. NID Centennial Reservoir & Power Supply Project: Nevada Irrigation District (NID) is proposing to implement the Centennial Reservoir Project to provide drought and climate change-mitigation, meet projected future water supply needs, and improve water supply reliability for NID's customers. The proposed project involves the construction of a new 110,000 acre-foot reservoir, on the Bear River between the existing Rollins and Combie reservoirs which would extend upriver from just above the existing Combie Reservoir for slightly over six miles to a point west of the Town of Colfax, approximately two miles downstream of the existing Rollins Dam. Placer County has no permitting authority for this project, but NID is anticipating preparing an Environmental Impact Report (EIR) that will identify potential impacts and propose clear mitigation measures. NID and County staff will be present to provide a status update for the current Notice of Preparation (NOP) in anticipation of the EIR and report on next steps in the EIR process. NID will be taking comments and suggestions at two upcoming public scoping meetings (see below) and in writing by March 17, 2016. Placer County is seeking input for a comment letter for the NOP. The MAC may also provide a comment letter.

What's next in NID's process? NID expects the EIR to be complete in 2017. During this time, the public will have several opportunities to participate and provide comments on the project and the EIR. NID will hold two public scoping meetings to present information about the Proposed Project and NID's decision-making processes and to listen to the views of the public on the range of issues relevant to the scope and content of the EIR. The scoping meeting dates, times, and locations are as follows:
